PRINCIPAL’S REPORT
GROWING WITH THE COMMUNITY
Welcoming, Engaging and Achieving

We are here to support the academic, social and emotional development of our students to be resilient to the challenges of a rapidly changing society.

A special thanks to Miss Cupples and our Numeracy committee for organising the terrific maths games for the classrooms last week. By all accounts much fun was had by all. I know the children will continue to enjoy the games with their peers at school and hopefully you are able to make time to share games as a family at home too—a great way to learn 😊

LOVELY FEEDBACK ABOUT OUR SCHOOL
Last term Michael and I had the opportunity to meet and share some aspects of our school with Steve Dimopoulos (State MP for Oakleigh). It was a pleasure meeting Mr Dimopoulos and we look forward to building a strong relationship in the future. I would like to draw your attention to the transcript below which is posted on his website: http://stevedimopoulos.com.au/latest-news/

MR DIMOPOULOS (Oakleigh)—I rise today to speak about Carnegie Primary School, which is a terrific school in the electorate of Oakleigh. I recently had the opportunity to visit the school for detailed discussions and a comprehensive tour with principal Linda Jones and assistant principal Michael McCarthy. The discussions were very informative and have provided me with knowledge of the school’s future needs. I was also very fortunate to attend the school’s annual fete in early March, which was incredible. Hundreds of locals turned out on a fantastic day to enjoy the wide variety of rides, stalls and diverse food on offer. I pay tribute to the team that organised this fantastic local event.

Carnegie Primary School is home to over 500 students in 20 classes. It has an advanced education program and puts a strong emphasis on English and mathematics. The school’s main aim is to foster in students the qualities and skills that will enable them to be successful, confident and tolerant individuals who are able to contribute positively to a constantly changing society. I must say the kids I met at the fete definitely fit that description. While Carnegie Primary School offers a great education to local kids, there are always things we can do as a government to foster improvement. I look forward to working closely with the Carnegie Primary School leadership team, parents and students in the coming years to create as many opportunities as we can for an even better future for the school and its Community.

MORE LOVELY FEEDBACK ABOUT OUR SCHOOL
Last week we had two teachers from Aspendale Primary School visit to look at our spelling instruction and the general teaching and learning in our flexible spaces. Their school leaders had heard Carnegie Primary was a great place to visit. They emailed us their reflections.

Thank you for letting us come to visit your wonderful school last Tuesday. We found the experience incredibly inspirational and it really helped us to further our understandings of implementing a successful spelling program this year at Aspendale Primary School. We really appreciate the time you took to explain your program and answer our questions. As soon as we walked into the school we were greeted with warm and happy faces which made us feel very welcomed. While moving around the learning spaces we were inspired by the flexible groupings, engaged learners and explicit teaching that was occurring. What really excited us was that the children were confident and aware of what they were learning. They moved seamlessly across the classroom to work in groups according to their needs. The 5/6 building was calm and we could feel the learning taking place. As we walked through the grade 5/6 classroom the children were focused and engaged. They were genuinely excited about what they were learning. Thank you for letting us experience some of the amazing teaching and learning that is taking place at Carnegie Primary School. Thanks again, we look forward to seeing you again soon!

CYBER SAFETY AND SOCIAL MEDIA
Cyber safety and respectful online behaviours have been a priority at Carnegie Primary as we focus on developing our students to be global citizens in a digital world. We teach our students to protect the reputation and dignity of all members of our community and require all students to have a current acceptable use of ICT agreement in place to support this. We pride ourselves on teaching compassion and empathy at Carnegie Primary and we insist that our students practise these values in their digital worlds as well. Social media can provide amazing opportunities for you to network and socialise online. While these technologies provide positive platforms for collaborating and sharing ideas, they also have the potential to cause hurt and being aware of a few simple strategies can help keep the use of social media positive and constructive:

• Before you post something online, ask yourself if the community or individual really need to know. Is it relevant, positive and helpful?
• Be a good role model. Take some time to think about issues or concerns. Hasty, emotive responses could inflame situations unnecessarily.
• Be mindful when commenting, try to keep general and avoid posting anything that could identify individuals.
• Taking a few moments to think about the content you are about to post could save upset and embarrassment.
• As a parent you have a role in supervising and regulating your child’s online activities at home and its impact on the reputation and privacy of others. Parents are their child’s first teachers — so they will learn online behaviours from you. There is considerable relevant information on the Victorian Department of Education website at the following link https://edugate.eduweb.vic.gov.au/collaboration/attendanceengagementparentbehaviour/parentbehaviour/default.aspx

We have become aware of several Facebook pages sharing posts about different grades in our school being administered by the class parents. We trust that parents would abide by the same respectful online behaviours as we expect of the students. Videos of student performances and general photos taken at school or school events should not be posted for general exhibition without the approval of all involved. I have attached a copy of an excellent brochure that has actually been produced by the Queensland Department of Education and Training. I ask all those involved in social media with a school flavour to please read this brochure carefully as it does provide some excellent food for thought.

NATIONALLY CONSISTENT DATA COLLECTION ON SCHOOL STUDENTS WITH DISABILITIES
All schools in Australia, including Independent and Catholic schools, will participate in the Nationally Consistent Collection of Data on School Students with Disability this year.

The Data Collection is an annual count of the number of students with disability receiving educational adjustments to support their participation in education on the same basis as students without disability.

All education agencies are now required under the Australian Education Regulation 2013 to provide information on a student’s level of education, disability and level of adjustment to the Australian Government Department of Education and Training.* Data will continue to be de-identified prior to its transfer to the Australian Government Department of Education and Training. No student’s identity will be provided to the Australian Government Department of Education and Training.

The collection of this information from states and territories will inform future policy and program planning in relation to students with disability.

If you have any questions, please do not hesitate to contact me, Linda Jones, or the Victorian Department of Education and Training Data Collection Hotline on (03) 9651 3621. For questions after 7 August 2015, please call the Australian Government Department of Education and Training on 1300 566 046.

For more information on Schedule 3—Amendments for the collection of data on students who are persons with a disability Australian Education Regulation 2013 see: http://www.comlaw.gov.au/Details/F2014L01723/Html/Text#_Toc404934419

UPCOMING OPEN AFTERNOON
On Wednesday, 17th June we will be having an open afternoon from 3 till 4pm for children to share their classrooms and some of their learning. This is a valuable opportunity for your child to celebrate some of their achievements with you and for parents to come into classrooms for a look around as well as a time for children to talk about some of their learning. Please place this date in your diary and we look forward to seeing you there!

FINAL DRAFT OF OUR HOMEWORK GUIDELINES
Thank you to those who provided feedback in relation to writing our Homework Guidelines. Some amendments have been made following the feedback received. The Homework Guidelines were ratified at our last School Council meeting. This document has been placed on our school website and is available from the office should you require a paper copy.

WORDS OF WISDOM – The essentials of happiness are something to do, something to love something to hope for.

Linda Jones & Michael McCarthy

Years 3–6 Athletics:
Let’s get excited! It’s athletics season! All students from 3 to 6 will be working on their athletic skills over the last few weeks of term 2 and early in term 3. Due to Carnegie’s growing population, we have made a few adjustments to the house athletics program. As a result we will be conducting high jump and shot put events during P.E. lessons. So students get ready for high jump in week 10 and make sure you practise your shot put skills over the holidays in preparation for shot put in week 2 of term 3. To ensure wind doesn’t affect the results on different days, the students who have thrown the furthest in each grade and age group will have a final “throw-off” to determine the winner.

All results will go towards the house athletics competition.
Social media and the school community

This guide offers some information to parents and caregivers about how to use social media in relation to comments or posts about their school community.

The internet, mobile phones and social media provide wonderful opportunities for you to network and socialise online. While these technologies provide positive platforms for sharing ideas, they also have the potential to cause pain and suffering to individuals, groups or even whole communities.

Reputations of teachers, schools, principals and even parents can be permanently damaged — and in some cases, serious instances of inappropriate online behaviour are dealt with by police and the court system.

Just as you would discourage your child from behaving inappropriately online, it’s important to remember that sometimes negative comments that parents and caregivers post about their school community have a greater impact than expected.
General tips

Being aware of a few simple strategies can help keep the use of social media positive and constructive:

- Before you post something online, ask yourself if the community or individual really need to know. Is it relevant, positive and helpful?
- Remember that what you post online is a direct reflection of who you are. People will potentially form lasting opinions of you based on what you post online.
- Be a good role model. If things get heated online consider logging out and taking a few moments to relax and think. Hasty, emotive responses could inflame situations unnecessarily.
- Be mindful when commenting, try to keep general and avoid posting anything that could identify individuals.
- A few years ago parents may have discussed concerns or issues with their friends at the school gate. Today with the use of social media, online discussions between you and your close friends can very quickly be shared with a much wider audience, potentially far larger than intended.
- Taking a few moments to think about the content you are about to post could save upset, embarrassment, and possible legal action.
- As a parent you have a role in supervising and regulating your child's online activities at home and its impact on the reputation and privacy of others. Parents are their child's first teachers — so they will learn online behaviours from you.

Is it appropriate to comment or post about schools, staff or students?

- Parental and community feedback is important for schools and the department. If you have a compliment, complaint or enquiry about an issue at school, the best approach is to speak directly to the school about the matter, rather than discussing it in a public forum.
- While many schools use social media to update parents of school notices, the department prefers that parents contact schools directly with a compliment, complaint or enquiry due to privacy considerations. Imagine if your doctor, accountant or banking institution tried to contact you to discuss important matters via Facebook.
- If you have raised an issue with a school or know that another person has, consider refraining from discussing those details on social media, particularly the names of anyone involved.
- Keep comments calm and polite, just as you would over the telephone or by email.
- If you encounter negative or derogatory content online which involves the school, hinders a child's learning and/or affects the school community at large, contact the school principal.
5 HEALTHY WAYS TO MANAGE EMOTIONS – Parenting Ideas from Michael Grose

Here are 5 healthy ways to manage your emotions that you can pass on to your children:

1. Breathe deeply
The trick here is to take deep breaths, rather than shallow breaths. The easiest way to breathe deeply is to sit up straight (or stand up straight) count to 3 quietly while breathing through your nose, and count to 5 while breathing out. Breathe slowly and deeply. You may even feel a little ‘heady’, which indicates deep (and low) breathing.

2. Use a positive reappraisal
Sometimes known as positive reframing, positive reappraisal is a simple technique you can use to help you look at a situation or event in a different light. Emotions are caused not by an event, but by the way we look at an event. A wedding speech to one person is a chance to strut your stuff (so they feel excited), while someone else may see it as a nightmare (so they feel anxious). Change the way you view something and you'll better be able to manage your emotional response. “This is a challenge, not a problem” is a catch-all reappraisal. The more specific the reappraisal, the more effective it will be.

3. Use positive, REALISTIC self-talk
Next time you catch yourself talking yourself or something down, replace the negative with something realistic but more positive. Something like “I’ve done it in the past and I survived. So I should be able to do it again.” Repeat this a few times and your emotional state will shift to a better one. You may not exactly be jumping over the moon with confidence but you will feel less stressed. That’s what emotional management is about.

4. Have constructive habits and hobbies
One of the tenets of good emotional health is that a person needs hobbies and interests that lift them up, making life enjoyable. Single-tracked lives— all work and no play — are recipes for emotional disasters. If you can relate to this, then I suggest you take the time to find a hobby or interest that juices you up.

5. Seek professional counselling
We all get stuck from time to time by aspects of our lives, such as experiencing loss, transition or trauma. When this happens we need a professional who can help us take the steps needed to become ‘unstuck’. A well-known song by US singer Kenny Roger song went, “You’ve got to know when to hold ‘em, know when to fold ‘em and know when to walk away.” I’d like to add another line— “You’ve got to know when to get some help.” Seeking help is something we are getting better at as a community, but we still have a long way to go until it is accepted and normalised.
